SERAPHIM ACADEMY series:

Wicked Wings, Sinful Things, and Fallen Kings

by Elizabeth Briggs

Self-published; December 2019, April 2020, October 2020

To find her brother, this succubus will tempt angels to fall.

They think I'm half angel and half human. They think I have no magic. They think because I grew up in the human world I'm clueless about what to expect at Seraphim Academy.

They're wrong.

I'm not half human, I'm half demon — and this little succubus has come to play. My brother vanished from Seraphim Academy without a trace, and I'll do whatever it takes to find him, including infiltrating the school myself. Even if it means going up against my brother's best friends, who know something about his disappearance and aren't talking. They may be angel royalty, but if they think they can intimidate me into leaving the school, they're wrong. There's also the problem of the delicious professor who knows my secret. He's hiding something too, and I'm going to find out what it is.

But I'll have to be careful, because if anyone finds out I'm part demon? I won't just get kicked out of Seraphim Academy — I'll be dead.

Elizabeth Briggs is a full-time geek who writes books for teens and adults. THE VANISHED BIRDS by Simon Jimenez

Del Rey, January 2020

A woman out of time takes in a mysterious child who fell from the sky--and who may have society-shattering powers.

Praise for The Vanished Birds

"This extraordinary science fiction epic, which delves deep into the perils of failing to learn from one's mistakes, is perfect for fans of big ideas and intimate reflections." — Publishers Weekly (starred review)

"This powerful, suspenseful story asks us to consider what we'd sacrifice for progress — or for the ones we love." — Kirkus Reviews (starred review)

"A lyrical and moving narrative of space travel, found families, and lost loves set against an evocative space-opera background." — Booklist (starred review)

"Reminiscent of Justin Cronin's The Passage, yet the journey itself evokes Bryce Courtenay's The Power of One, creating crossover appeal for readers who enjoy a bit of emotional attachment with their time travel... The story takes on a tone and depth that recalls an N.K. Jemisin novel." — Library Journal

by Jane Kindred

Riptide, Fall 2020

WHEN DESIRE RISES, ANGELS WILL FALL. ONE, BY ONE, BY ONE...

Over the past century, Belphagor has made a name for himself in Heaven's Demon District as a cardsharp, thief, and charming rogue. Though the air spirit is content with his own company, he enjoys applying the sweet sting of discipline to a willing backside. Angel, demon, even the occasional human. He's not particular. Until a hotheaded young firespirit steals his purse—and his heart. Now he's not sure who owns whom.

A former rent boy and cutpurse from the streets of Raqia, Vasily has never felt safer than in the arms—and at the feet—of the Prince of Tricks. He's just not sure if Belphagor returns those feelings. There's only one way to find out, but using a handsome, angelic duke to stir Belphagor's jealousy backfires on them both.

When the duke frames Vasily for an attempted assassination as part of a revolutionary conspiracy, Belphagor will do whatever it takes to clear his boy's name and expose the real traitor. Because for the first time in his life, the Prince of Tricks has something to lose.

Jane began writing romantic fantasy novellas at the age of 12 in the wayback of a Plymouth Fury—which, as far as she recalls, never killed anyone...who didn't have it coming.

ONE LAST STOP

St. Martins Griffin, May 2021

Manuscript available now!

Cynical twenty-three-year old August doesn't believe in much. She doesn't believe in psychics, or easily forged friendships, or finding the kind of love they make movies about. And she certainly doesn't believe that her childhood obsession with Say Anything in all its romantic, hopeful, blasting Peter Gabriel's "In Your Eyes" glory counts as believing in something.

But then, there's Jane. Beautiful, impossible Jane.

All hard edges with a soft smile and swoopy hair and saving August's day when she needed it most. The person August looks forward to seeing on her subway commute every day. The one who makes her forget about the cities she lived in that never seemed to fit, and her fear of what happens when she finally graduates, and even her cold-case obsessed mother who won't quite let her go.

Except, something about Jane doesn't add up. And when August realizes her subway crush is impossible in more ways than one and displaced from 1970s Brooklyn, she thinks, maybe it's time to start believing.

Casey McQuiston's One Last Stop is an epic, big-hearted novel where the impossible becomes possible as August does everything in her power to save the girl lost in time--all while trying not to fall in love.
